

PRESS RELEASE

Docklands Development to Benefit from Mechanical Parking

Specialist parking systems company, Wöhr, has been awarded a contract by Laing O'Rourke, to supply mechanical double level parking systems at a development in London's Docklands, for George Wimpey City Ltd.

The residential project at Canada Water will benefit from 130 parking spaces, provided by Wöhr's Parklift 440 stacking system, making it the UK's largest installation to date of this particular model. A key feature of the system is that residents will retain completely independent access to their own parking space.

Installation is programmed to begin on site in July 2007.

For more information, visit www.wohr-parking.co.uk.

Date: October 2006

---